

PhD Curriculum & Instruction: Curriculum Studies

The Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Curriculum & Instruction: Curriculum Theory consists of a minimum of 90 credit hours beyond the Bachelors. A minimum of 12 hours must be taken outside the School of Education. Students must pass a general exam (written & oral), a dissertation proposal, write a dissertation, and pass an oral dissertation defense.

School of Education Core Courses

(Must be taken consecutively during First Year of Enrollment) 6 Credits

ELRC 7299	Introduction to Scholarship in Education	3 hours
EDCI 7910	Traditions of Inquiry	3 hours

Research Methodology & Dissertation Research

Minimum 21 Credits

ELRC 7006 (or Equivalent)	Educational Statistics	4 hours
ELRC 7241 (or Equivalent)	Educational Research Methods	3 hours
ELRC 7243 (or Equivalent)	Qualitative Methods in Educational Research	4 hours
EDCI 9000	Dissertation Research	12-15 Hours

Area of Specialization: Curriculum Studies

50 Hours

*Required; Select at least 3 from List below and in consultation with your advisor.

*EDCI 7901	Curriculum Theory	3 Hours
EDCI 4800	Teaching in the Multicultural Classroom	3 Hours
EDCI 5880	Special Topics in Education	1-3 hours
EDCI 7824	Elementary School Curriculum	3 Hours

EDCI 7825	Secondary School Curriculum	3 Hours
EDCI 7904	Education & Cognition	3 Hours
ELRC 7600	Race & Gender	3 Hours
EDCI 7821/7822	Problems in Curriculum	3 Hours
ELRC 7890	Curriculum & College Teaching	3 Hours
EDCI 7903	Curriculum Planning	3 Hours
EDCI 7930/7931	Seminar(s) Curriculum & Instruction	3 Hours

Courses Outside School of Education

12 Hours

Minor Area of Study

12-18 Credits

Select in consultation with your advisor. Possibilities include Women's & Gender Studies, African American Studies, International Studies.

Electives

The remaining courses to complete the program of studies must be selected with the approval of the student's graduate advisor committee.

Total Credits: 90